TARABULA-KONIOR

Saturday morning in St. Gabriel's church, the ceremony of matrimony was celebrated between Blanche Konior, of North Side, and Frank Tarabula, of Coleman, Alberta. The bride was dressed in a floor-length satin gown with a flowing halo veil, and she looked refreshingly charming. The bridegroom was in a tuxedo. The bride's bouquet was of roses and carnations. At the home of the bride's mother a wedding party was held. The table was laid as only a table can be laid, on a farm, with all the trimmings and a large tiered wedding cake, of which all the guests partook. The newlyweds received many lovely wedding gifts from friends and neighbors. A gay time was had by all and best wishes were conveyed to the happy pair. Mr. and Mrs. Tarabula will reside in Coleman, where the groom is employed. Athabasca Echo.

Vera Winters, aged 17, of Natal, died the day she entered a Cranbrook hospital for an operation on Sunday, May 18th. The remains were brought back to Natal for burial.

DECENNIAL CENSUS OF CANADA

The eighth decennial census of Canada will commence on Monday next, June 2nd. The Dominion government requests that all loyal citizens co-operate with the authorities in this wide-spread undertaking, and extend courtesy to the official enumerators engaged in the task of recording the required items of information.

CENSUS ENUMERATORS ARE APPOINTED

Mr. Nicholson, of Cowley, spent the early part of the week in Blairmore in connection with appointment of enumerators for the forthcoming federal census. The following have been appointed:

Blairmore and Frank — Florence Mission.
Bellevue—Flora Kubasek.
Hillcrest—Isobel McInnis.
Coleman West—N. A. MacAulay.
Coleman East—B. P. McEwen.
Outlying territory in the district from Bellevue to Crows' Nest—R. G. McIntyre, of Coleman.
Lundbreck-Cowley—Ed. LaBrie.
North Fork District—D. G. McWilliam.
Mayercroft—Norman Porter.
South Fork: Beaver Mines — Ken McDowall.
A class of instruction for local district appointees was conducted on Monday and Tuesday at the Comopolitan hotel.
It is hoped that the public will co-operate as far as possible with the enumerators in their work. It is a big job.

URGES FULL CONSCRIPTION; WOULD PAY ALL ARMY WAGES

Kimberley, B.C., May 27. — S. G. Blaylock, president and general manager of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, in an address to the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia, today called for conscription of manpower in Canada, and said he would like to see "every male over 20 years old conscripted and put on army pay."
"It is fairly evident that our main political parties frowned on conscription largely for fear of reaction on the French Canadians in Quebec province," he said. "I am told now that not only in Quebec province leading Ontario in voluntary recruiting for the services, but that the French Canadians in Quebec are leading the recruiting in that province. As a native of Quebec, this gives me a thrill, and I hope to see the demand for conscription come from French Canada."

Premier Aberhart has sent a letter to mayors of Alberta cities and towns, urging support for the Victory Loan drive beginning June 2nd.
Edmonton East will have a three-cornered election fight on Monday next, when voters go to the polls to fill the vacant seat in Commons. Contestants are representative of Liberal, social credit and a new people's movement.

ALL OUT FOR THE VICTORY LOAN 1941

A well attended meeting of canvassers and committees of the Victory Loan organization from Pincher Creek, Cowley, Lundbreck, Bellevue, Hillcrest, Frank, Blairmore and Coleman, held in Bellevue Wednesday evening, had the organization and administration work explained to them by C. R. Tanner, in charge of the work for Southern Alberta. He also answered many questions asked of him regarding canvassing and the various forms to be used. He pointed out some of the difficulties that canvassers might experience during the drive, and explained how best they could be overcome.

Stating that "we are not asking the citizens to give their money—we are asking them to LOAN their money to the government for the purchase of war supplies," F. E. Osborne, of Calgary, and member of the provincial executive, gave a pep talk to the assembled canvassers and committees. He stressed the point that Canadians must be made to realize that a serious war is being fought and that our democratic liberties and privileges are in danger of being swept away. He warned of the seriousness of the war situation, and stated that it was going to take every dollar that the government could raise to fight it to a successful conclusion. "Some people in Canada took their freedom and liberties as so much for granted," he said. "If you appreciate your hard-won freedom, then let the government have the temporary use of every dollar you can spare and thus preserve your personal freedom and welfare."

Ken Ringland, of Lethbridge, divisional organizer, explained the two issues, the government was offering to the public—the short-term and long-term bonds; how they could be best purchased, outright or on the installment plan; and also explained the difference between coupon-bearing bonds, coupon-registered bonds and fully registered bonds.
Unit organizers present at the meeting were H. Rossenberry, Pincher Creek; W. R. Warm, Bellevue; W. H. Chappell, Blairmore, and H. C. McBurney, Coleman.

Prior to the meeting members were shown a motion picture at Cole's theatre, in Bellevue, entitled "Canada's War Effort," which depicted the various war efforts of Canadians throughout the Dominion, and hence the necessity of the Victory Loan.

WE MIGHT WEEP A LITTLE

Over in England now, there is a radio comedian who sets his listeners laughing with recipes like the following:

"Take a large sirloin steak, smother it liberally with onions, spread with a thick coating of grated cheese, and fry in deep butter."

If this radio programme could be rebroadcast in Canada with all the accompanying sounds of laughter from the English audience, doubtless many thousands of Canadians who can get all the steak and onions and butter they want, would decide to increase the size of their Victory Loan Bond purchases.

Rough Oliver leaves by train tomorrow to visit his old home in Nova Scotia, and will be away a few weeks.

"We will continue our onward march!" said General George L. Carpenter after the destruction of the Salvation Army's headquarters building in London by the Nazis. Some 250 Salvation Army properties have been destroyed to date during air raids.

A colorful torch-light parade is planned for the town of Macleod on Monday next. At the festivities, Commander Arthur L. James, of the No. 7 Service Flying Training School, will be made an honorary chief of the 76th Indian tribe.

ROYAL BANK BEHIND THE VICTORY LOAN 1941

At this moment every Canadian is faced with a great responsibility. It is essential to the victory of our forces that they be supplied freely with all the modern implements of war. Owing to international conditions, it is impossible for our government to borrow outside the country, and this means that the government will require to look to the people of Canada to lend all of the money that is needed.
On or about June 1st, the Dominion government will launch the Victory Loan 1941, and everyone who desires that our present method of life continue has the responsibility of subscribing to the utmost extent of his ability to this loan in order that the above result, which can only come with victory, shall be assured. No half efforts will be sufficient.

The plan which has been adopted to obtain subscribers for this loan embraces a general canvass of the whole Dominion. A representative of the Victory Loan organization will be appointed to call on those who live in your neighborhood, and on his behalf I bespeak your kindly reception when he calls on you.
If, however, you prefer for any reason to place your subscription through this office, I shall be glad to look after it for you. Also, if there is any further information or assistance you require, please do not hesitate to ask me. In the meantime I can recommend the loan to you as the best investment available in Canada today.

Similar letters to this are being sent out by all branch banks in Canada, and by other organizations. Under ordinary conditions it might not be fitting that I should write to you along these lines, but this is a testing time when Canada must be supplied with the necessary money to prosecute the war, and it becomes a duty to the nation to draw the loan to your attention, and to urge that you give it your support.

Yours very truly,
J. B. WILSON,
Manager Royal Bank.

T. V. Hoggarth, for the past ten years manager of the Cranbrook hotel, has purchased the Armstrong hotel at Armstrong, B.C., from the Pacific Brewery Agencies.

Two local lads, who have been making a practice of entering private homes and business premises by means of a set of keys, are liable to find that they are engaged in extremely bad business. In any case, they should be checked up by police.

BEHIND THE VICTORY LOAN 1941

The weight of over 40 Canadian life insurance companies will be thrown into the forthcoming Victory Loan campaign. This was announced by Leighton Foster, K.C., of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada, who stated that a selling force of nearly 4,000 full-time life insurance salesmen would be placed at the disposal of the Victory Loan committee during the time of the Victory Loan drive. Already 600 branch managers located throughout the Dominion have been advised to co-operate with the committee. Organization and management of this selling force will be left with the Victory Loan committee.

Pleased with this offer of assistance, a spokesman for the War Loan committee pointed out that such a group of experienced salesmen would do much to promote interest in the campaign.

GEORGE T. NICHOLL PASSES IN CALIFORNIA

George T. Nicholl died in Hollywood, California, last week. In the Great War, he with his two brothers enlisted from Calgary. He was wounded overseas and had lived in California ever since. His mother resides in Calgary. She, with her husband, came to the west in 1883. They settled at Macleod, when there was very little there other than the fort and North West Mounted Police.

Mr. Nicholl, senior, who passed away some years ago, was manager of the old McLaren Lumber Company, who operated a mill near Blairmore.

May 24th's snowstorm was held over till the 26th.

Nazi parachutists landed in Orste dressed in uniforms taken from New Zealand troops.

In the absence of Rev. E. B. Arrol, B.A., the evening service at the United church on Sunday was in charge of Mr. John Shevlin, of Bellevue, who delivered a forceful address.

An exchange says that the British Commonwealth is menaced by fascist devils, Nazi devils, red devils, yellow devils and Devils. The latter is an avowed enemy and makes no bones about it.

Flowers were stolen from a Coleman grave last week. Flowers, gladioli and rose bushes were taken up by the roots and the soil carefully smoothed over so that only those taking care of the grave would be aware of the theft. It's about the smallest trick on record.

William Alexander of Aberdeen has launched a campaign to secure gifts of a million unwanted keys, which he estimates will yield eleven tons of metal.

The American Red Cross said that its war relief aid for nations in Europe and the Orient totalled $25,015,599 on May 1. Of this, $15,798,546 had been sent to Great Britain.

Britain's anti-aircraft gunners of the Northern Command brought down the fifth shot a Messerschmitt 110 bomber flying five miles a minute at 4,000 yards.

Are Real Heroes

Girls Drive Officers To Gun Sites During Heaviest Raids

Some of the bravest of the "unknown" heroines of the war are the girls who drive A. A. officers from gun site to gun site through black-out and blitz.

There are only nine in London. One, Sub-Leader Audrey Palmer, has visited a site a day since September 1939, and could find her way blindfolded to more than 100. She drove continuously through the blitz of 1940.

She is used to waiting at the gun sites, sometimes in a hail of bombs and shell-splinters. In one blitz she waited all night.

"Nine may be a lucky number," she said, "because none of us has had even a scratch."

The girls have seen bombs burst on the road ahead of them, and have had to go miles by small roads to avoid craters. They have driven through snow, rain and fog and welcomed the flash of bombs because it showed them their way.

Settled A Debt

Dying Wish Of A British Soldier Was Carried Out

As a young soldier lay dying of injuries received while working with a bomb disposal squad he asked to see his officer in order to express a last wish.

It was this: Would he please settle for him a debt of half a crown that he owed to a friend.

The following day the officer arrived in Kettering, Yorkshire, a journey of more than a hundred miles from the South of England to settle the debt and thus fulfil the dying wish of a soldier.

Canadian Made

The munitions and supply department at Ottawa announced production of Canadian-made, 500-pound, aerial bombs has reached "gratifying proportions" at an unnamed factory in Quebec. The announcement said the factory, built last August and in production this March, is expected to turn out more than 100,000 bombs annually.

Some 300 places in Lincolnshire and Yorkshire, England, have names which show they originally were Danish settlements.

Cable Messages To Service Men

Omission Of Unit In Family Addressed Cables Causes Delays In Delivery

In order that cable messages to members of the Active Service Force in the United Kingdom may be dispatched rapidly they should be addressed in the following complete order: regimental number, rank, name, unit, and finally, "Canrecord, London." Example:

"No. P-26534 Private John Doe X Y Z Regiment."

In addition to the cable service, there is available a postal-letter telegram for messages to the United Kingdom which should be addressed: regimental number, rank, name, unit, and, instead of "Can Record, London," "Can Record, London."

Urgent messages for officers and other ranks of the Active Army abroad other than in the United Kingdom should bear regimental number, rank, name, unit, and "Officer-in-Charge of Records, Ottawa."

Omission of the unit to which a man belongs is the cause of the greatest and most delays in family addressed cables, authorities state.

Found It Comfortable

King George Enjoyed Driving Heavy Tank Over Testing Grounds

The King drove one of Britain's newest heavy tanks over a testing ground near a ministry of supply factory and commented on its easy handling and the surprising comfort of the King's desk-like seat.

After pulling white overalls over his field marshal's uniform the King climbed into the tank's driving compartment and steered the battle wagon over a bumpy field.

Earlier His Majesty toured the factory and displayed keen interest in the secrets of manufacture and the performance, armaments and arms of the tanks.

When an official quipped: Our tanks won't stop even for a policeman," the King turned to a constable standing nearby and asked with a grin:

"Did you ever try to stop one."

Indian Given Command

B.C. Military Camp In Charge Of Great War Veteran

St. Catharines, Ont.—Lt.-Col. O. Milton Martin, who was appointed commanding officer of the 13th Infantry Brigade a year ago, has been named commander of the military camp at Nanaimo, B.C., succeeding Brig. J. B. Stevenson, who will take up a post at Welland, Ont. It was learned. Col. Martin, a full-blooded Indian, is a veteran of the first Great War. Before the outbreak of the present war he was a high school principal.

Gardening

In most parts of Canada it is still quite possible to have a good vegetable garden even from seeds. It is not a bit too early for melons, cucumbers, squash and medium and late corn, potatoes, beans, carrots and beets; with well started husky plants, purchased from the nearest seed store or green house, one can set out a whole garden with tomatoes, peppers, cabbage and celery. To start up with this list of gardenings is advisable to cultivate frequently, water during dry weather, and to carry along with a good supply of good chemical fertilizer, especially any newly set out plants, applied close to but not actually touching the plants or its roots.

Tie Them Up
Dahlias, tomatoes, large cosmos or nicotines, young shade trees, new climbers, all benefit from some artificial support while they are getting started.

For tall individual flowers or tomatoes, six-foot stakes are advisable and the plant is tied to these loosely with soft twine or raffa. Stout and perhaps longer stakes will be used with shade trees and correspondingly shorter ones for the smaller flowers. With vines getting ready to cling to fence or wall, string is used or perhaps adhesive tape or staples where it is impossible to tie.

Sweet Peas, Tomatoes
With sweet peas and ordinary garden peas, one may use chicken wire from three feet to six feet high, depending how tall the peas grow.

With tomatoes, dahlias, etc., usually side shoots are nipped off, and the main stem only allowed to grow.

Give Them Room

Thinning, as any old gardener will confirm, is most necessary with vegetables, flowers and shrubs. Nature when left alone is ruthless, killing or crowding out the weaklings. Of the three to five thousand seedlings that are lavishly strewn by the winds over an acre of land, less than a hundred are permitted to reach full maturity three quarters of a century later. In gardening this stern but necessary example must be followed. If left to grow, crowded flowers become spindly and weak, prey for the first stiff wind, heavy rain or hungry insect. Vegetables, too, get spindly or woody.

Where The Funk Lies

Women Often To Blame When Their Males Are Inefficient

Men like to brag about the efficiency of their secretaries. The women like to complain about the inefficiency of their maids. Maybe that is why the wife of a man who has had the same secretary for years changes maids on an average of every six months.

A smart business man keeps on looking for a secretary until he finds one who is efficient and has enough initiative to handle a good part of his work without worrying him about it at all. Every new job or detail she assumes ticks him pink. When she gets to the point where he can brag that she can hold down the office alone when the necessity (a fishing trip, for instance) arises, he thinks she's a lucky man.

But the average housewife who employs a maid resents the maid's taking any initiative whatever. The housewife wants to tell the maid exactly what to do every hour of the day—and exactly how to do it. It doesn't matter if the maid likes to clean according to a certain routine. The housewife demands that she clean according to her own routine—even though she hasn't cleaned a house in twenty years. Not even the kitchen—which certainly should be as much a maid's own as a secretary's desk—is hers to arrange to suit her convenience.

Women, themselves, have made household work the dreary job it is by taking every chance for initiative out of it. A cook doesn't even get credit for a good dish. The housewife cops that by letting her family and guests know it is "her recipe," rather than "Martha's cake."

So women do everything possible to smother the initiative of a maid—and then sit around and complain that they haven't any initiative. There wouldn't be such a "servant problem" if women tried to outdo each other in bragging on their maids instead of trying to outdo each other in finding fault with them.

Private Thomas Sutton suffered a shock when he scanned his United States army induction report. The carbon had slipped and his physical characteristics were noted as: "Frame—red; color of hair—blue; color of eyes—ruddy; complexion—no comment."

LONG-WAISTED DRESS IS SLIM

By Anne Adams

If you love to hear those "how SLIM you've become!" remarks, choose this Anne Adams style for your next sewing venture! It's a gay deceiver, Pattern 4742, for it accents your charms and plays down your pounds at the same time. A full-length panel at the front gives you up-and-down lines. And that popular longer-waisted line is introduced in low-positioned seams at either side of the panel and a hipline seam in back. Notice the double skirt panels at either side-front—they're smart, flattering and comfortable too, for they give nice walking freedom. Bustline softness is held in place by decorative gathers at the bodice seams. You might notice the neckline and the short sleeves and add vivid little bows for extra gaiety.

Pattern 4742 is available in women's sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 takes 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly: Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send orders to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

Not Many High Incomes

Income Tax Collections Show Comparatively Few In Canada

Income tax collections in the fiscal year 1939-40 revealed there were 27 persons in Canada with net taxable incomes of $200,000 a year or more. Finance Minister. Ilsley told the House of Commons.

The minister gave a breakdown of the 483 Canadian wealthy returns for that year showed net incomes of $50,000 a year or more, as follows:

$50,000 to $60,000—139.
$60,000 to $75,000—121.
$75,000 to $100,000—102.
$100,000 to $150,000—66.
$150,000 to $200,000—28.
Over $200,000—27.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

BROADENING CHRISTIAN HORIZONS: THE ANTIOCH MOVEMENT

Golden text: For I am not ashamed of the gospel, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek. Romans 1:16. Lesson: Acts 11:19-30. Devotional reading: I. Thessalonians 6:12-22.

Explanations and Comments

Barnabas Sent to Antioch and Approved of the Mission, Acts 11:22-24. Report of this revolutionary step of preaching to Gentiles came to the Church at Jerusalem and was far from pleasing there, but instead of hastily condemning them they sent Barnabas to investigate the situation. They may have chosen Barnabas because he was a Cypriot. He was, as Luke tells us, a good man, full of the Holy Spirit and of faith, and when he reached Antioch he saw the genuineness of the conversion of the Gentiles he was glad. Antioch was the church at Antioch with purpose of heart. If Jews and Gentiles carried this out there would be no trouble among them, for they would all live together in Christian unity, sons of one Father, brothers of one Lord.

Barnabas Secured Paul as Co-worker at Antioch, Acts 11:25, 26. Through the efforts of Barnabas the church at Jerusalem had accepted Paul was a brother after his conversion but Paul had nevertheless been forced to flee and find a refuge in Tarsus, his home town. Ten or twelve years had passed since then, and now Barnabas needs help in the church at Antioch. He knows the right man for the work, one who has demonstrated the breadth of his sympathy for the heart, a Hellenistic Jew like himself, familiar with the Greek language and thought. He thought of Paul of Tarsus. So he journeyed to Tarsus and returned with Paul. When he had carried everything before him he knew Paul was much the abler and stronger man. But Barnabas knew Paul's goodness of heart and was the progress of the work, and perhaps this is the ultimate evidence of Barnabas' goodness. Because every man is in good man's soul" (J. D. Jones).

The world is indebted to Barnabas, as the agent of God, for setting Paul on his marvelous career of usefulness. People are being led to God's Kingdom everywhere to-day because Barnabas has brought them out of their hiding places.

Returned His Medals

War Veteran No Longer Wanted Decorations From Italy

"I belong to a nation of men who have backbones rather than wishbones," with this notation, Arthur Collins Cundy whose birthplace was the Tower of London, returned to the King of Italy two medals he was given during the last war.

Mr. Cundy, who is international secretary of the Civilian club, in which capacity he travelled 138,000 miles last year, said it cost him $4.08 to return the medals and citation, "but it was worth it." The medals went back to Italy four months ago and just two weeks ago he received a receipt for them, signed by an envoy of the Italian king.

A citizen of the U.S. now and married to a direct descendant of Francis Scott Key, who composed the "Star Spangled Banner," Mr. Cundy is also a veteran of the Boer war. In that war he was a drummer under the late Sir Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement.

He served with the London Scottish regiment and when the U.S. went into the war transferred to the A.E.F. and rose to the rank of captain.

The medals he returned to Italy were Menta Guerra and the Order of the Annunziata. The latter made him a "cousin" of the king of Italy. "I was given the medal when I went out and brought in a wounded Italian officer after seven other men had been killed trying to do it," he declared.

"When Italy entered the present war I decided I didn't want to be a cousin of the Italian king any longer," Mr. Cundy explained. "I wrapped up the medals and the citations and returned them by registered mail."

EDUCATION VERSUS DEMONSTRATION

A striking feature of the story of preventive medicine in Canada and in probably other countries is that while progress is very rapid in one area it is slow in another, that in spite of the fact that the efficacy of some special method or machinery of prevention has been demonstrated to the full yet it is not adopted universally as one would expect.

Toronto began to pasteurize her entire milk supply early as 1914. The results were immediate. The infant mortality rate fell at once. Bone tuberculosis of the bovine type originating in Toronto disappeared overnight and there has not been a single case in Toronto since. One would have expected that this kind of saving life on a wholesale scale would have been adopted universally without delay. But no such thing happened. Indeed it was only in 1938—after a lapse of 24 years—that a law prohibiting the sale of raw milk generally was passed in Ontario, largely by virtue of the really courageous action of Mitchell F. Hepburn, a prime minister who cared more about public health than most political leaders. And so far not a single province in Canada has followed suit.

Various Canadian cities have demonstrated that diphtheria can be eliminated entirely from a community by the general use of Toxoid. In some cases 2,851 cases and 328 deaths, a prime minister who cared more about public health than most political leaders. And so far not a single province in Canada has followed suit.

The efficacy of full-time health service is proven to the hilt. In the province of Quebec largely by virtue of the help of the Rockefeller Foundation 60 counties have an efficient full-time service and the results in areas where such service has been provided have been spectacular. Yet full-time health service has not been adopted generally by the province, and in rural areas generally as a result sickness and death rates have remained high.

"These facts are true because there has been a serious omission in our plans and the elimination of unnecessary disease and death. We have failed to provide means for widespread and universal education of the public—and this is necessary because only by such means will the tax-paying voter in the future be able to make a decision finally take the necessary steps to provide the machinery of preventive medicine."

And yet there is still difficulty in procuring urgently needed funds from governments and the public to support health education throughout Canada. The wealthy man has become accustomed to giving generously to the building of a new wing to the hospital rather than to such an intangible thing as education. States and nations can see and understand. Governments build institutions with alacrity. The voter is easily swayed by the benevolence of governmental intentions. He can see it.

And yet the future of the country depends not on the number of our institutions for the ill and unfortunate, but on the number of the principles of preventive medicine applied we would keep hospital beds empty and eliminate the need for expensive institutional care.

CANADA'S VICTORY LOAN 1941

Practically every municipality in Canada will have an opportunity to associate itself with the symbolic Torch which is being flown to Winston Churchill in the latter part of June.

In sympathy with the inscription on the Torch, "Part of the Tools—Canada's Victory Loan 1941," there will be an artistically designed scroll which is to be circulated to a large number of cities and towns which will not be in the itinerary of the Torch on its way from Victoria, B.C., to Halifax, and thence to London. Ensignatures of mayors and Reeves will be affixed to this scroll, so that the expression of the determination of Canadian citizens to "help finish the job" will be as general as it is possible to make it.

The Victory Loan organization anticipates that many thousands of citizens from points not included in the itinerary will travel to those places where the "Torch Day" programme will be held, there to join in the pledge of allegiance which will be of the ceremonial.

Following is a resume of a typical Torch Day programme:

Citizens will assemble at the point for the ceremony, with a proper local Guard of Honor for the Torch and a good-sized band or bands. Adjacent to the bands will be a large singing group, provided from the choirs of the various churches in the locality. There will be a song programme for a period of thirty minutes during which the crowd will sing "O Canada," "The Maple Leaf Forever," "There'll Always Be An England," and religious hymns proper to the dedication ceremonies. There will be Bidding Prayer by a local church dignitary, to be followed by the singing of all verses of "Onward Christian Soldiers," and a prayer for Victory for His Majesty's forces by another local dignitary.

Next comes "The Torch Day" address by a selected speaker.

Following this there will be a short, simple parade of the Torch, during which a third local religious or civic dignitary will ask all assembled to place their right hands on their hearts and repeat with him the following pledge:

"I hereby declare my belief in Almighty God, and reaffirm my loyalty and allegiance to His Majesty the King, and further declare my support for British institutions.

"I pledge myself and my all to hold the Torch on high, and to march shoulder to shoulder with the Motherland and the Empire in our righteous cause through Victory and enduring peace."

At the conclusion of the pledge, the national anthem will be sung. And then comes the "Torch Day" parade.

The Torch Day parade will be the biggest parade that the community has ever carried out. It will be made up of local, civic dignitaries, the lieutenant-governor, the premier, cabinet ministers etc., in other cities; detachments from all military forces that may be in the area; detachments from all auxiliary service forces that are in the area; all civic organizations as outlined heretofore, school children, patriotic floats, detachments from police and fire departments, and, above all, "bands and bands and bands."

Why CANADA MUST BORROW $600,000,000

A Statement by the Minister of Finance

In money alone, this war is costing Canada in round figures, $4,000,000 a day. That is three and one-quarter times the daily cost of the last year of the last war. This conflict costs so much more because it is a battle of giant, swift machines... as well as of men. And to build other than the very best machines would be futile. They must be worthy of our men.

Canada dare not... and will not... sacrifice men for lack in quality or quantity of fighting machines. Hence we must produce them on a scale hitherto undreamed of.

To do this, Canada needs now to borrow from her citizens at least $600,000,000 in addition to the revenue raised by taxes. To obtain this money Canada will on June 2nd offer Victory Bonds.

Fortunately, Canadians have the money to buy these Victory Bonds. This is shown by a greatly expanded national income and by record savings deposits.

If every person who has savings or who can make payments out of wages or income will invest in Victory Bonds, the Loan will be quickly subscribed. But the wholehearted support of every citizen is necessary.

What Canadians have done before, Canadians can and will do again. Our population was less than nine millions in 1918 and 1919. Yet in November, 1918, our people invested $616,000,000 in Victory Bonds. Eleven months later, in October, 1919, they invested $572,000,000. The total subscribed for Victory Bonds in those two loans was $1,188,000,000. This year, with our population increased to more than twelve millions, the nation that did it before can do it again—and in greater measure.

The terms of the Loan will be announced May 31st. Get ready to buy every Bond that you can.

GROWN IN SUNNY, SOUTHERN ONTARIO

A Continuous Effort

The campaign recently launched and prosecuted with considerable vigor in cities, towns and villages and throughout the countryside to salvage waste materials which can be converted into munitions of war or used directly for war purposes will rank as one of the many valuable contributions which Canadians have made and are making in the all-out fight to give Nazism a knock out blow.

With the completion of the first onslaught on hordes of hidden but useless treasures—useless to those who have been hoarding them, it will be found that thousands and thousands of tons of materials which could not possibly serve any useful purpose stored in attics and basements and lying in waste heaps have been recovered and made use of as an aid to the greatest objective in Canadian history—the defeat of Hitler and concurrently the preservation of freedom and liberty.

A careful appraisal of materials which can be of value in the war effort reveals an astonishing variety and range of commodities which have been regarded as debris in industrial life, such things as bottles, rags of all kinds, old socks, old clothing and many other materials and discarded articles, which can be rehabilitated and made to serve a useful purpose.

Woolen rags undergo a transformation that is hard to believe. After this type of rags reaches industry, through the voluntary salvage groups, the transformation begins. They are thoroughly cleaned, sterilized and then shredded. The shredded material is next mixed with live wool and the combination is woven into several kinds of heavy cloth which makes blankets and uniforms, so essential to the comfort and needs of the armed forces. Collecting wool rags and turning them back into industry is definitely a direct contribution to the war effort.

Nor are cotton rags less valuable to the cause which the people of Canada are espousing. White or colored, cotton rags find their way finally to factories which make "waste" for machinery wipers. An old house-dress, which seems of so little use, if contributed to the local salvage campaign may eventually be used to wipe the oil and grease from a lathe that is turning out a bomb to be dropped on Berlin.

Other Textiles Valuable

Other types of secondary textiles can be used in the war effort. Linens, for example, are being turned back to industry to make the fine grade of paper needed for important military and state documents. Even old silk stockings may be turned to good purpose, as is now being done in the United States, where they are unwoven and the threads that still have tensile strength are being used a second time, a possible use which is now being investigated by the Canadian department of national war services.

Jute sacks are still another type of secondary textile having salvage value. Owing to the slow delivery of jute from India and the problem of getting shipping space, there has been difficulty in supplying the needs of the Canadian market with new bags. As a result, second hand jute bags have appreciable value.

The value of old machinery and metallic waste in other forms, such as discarded iron, steel and other metals is almost too well known to need comment. They can be reconditioned and processed for use in the manufacture of munitions and other forms of war material and equipment.

In a country which consumes large quantities of canned goods, it seems unfortunate that the salvage of tin cans is not an economic feasibility, at least, at the present time, and especially in view of the fact that tin is one of the most valuable of war materials.

Some time ago the Canadian department came to the conclusion that nothing could be done to make use of discarded tin cans, due largely to the cost of transportation over long distances and the expense of processing before the old cans can be turned into a useful material. Even in the United States, where conditions are much more favorable for collecting and converting tin cans into useful material than in Canada, it has been found impracticable to do so, after experimentation in de-tinning factories in New York, Chicago and San Francisco. A committee of the National Academy of Sciences in the United States has regretfully recommended against the establishment of more such factories "unless and until an emergency in the supply of tin renders it imperative to conserve tin without regard to its cost."

An Accelerating Need

The work that has been done to date is undoubtedly of untold value to the Canadian war effort, but after the enthusiasm has worn off, the effort should not be allowed to languish. On the contrary the collection of salvageable material should be a continuous process, not only because there will be less of it available, once the first great accumulation of years of waste material has been disposed of, but because the need for it may accelerate as the war progresses and becomes more protracted.

Citizens can continue to serve their country well and further promote the war effort if, from now on, everything that could possibly be of use is set aside, sorted out in the process of laying it out for future use and held until sufficient materials are available to make delivery worth while or until the call again goes out for more waste.

Mobile Kitchens

Junior Red Cross of Saskatchewan Purchases Four A1 Cost Of $13,000

Out of savings of children in the public schools of Saskatchewan, some of them earned laboriously and with firm intention of young people to aid in the war as best they can, the standing committee representing the Junior Red Cross Society in Saskatchewan recently voted, out of a total of $13,000.00 collected by the children since January, 1940, to pay on their part for four mobile kitchens, each costing $3,250.00. In January the members had purchased the first unit of this kind of equipment at the same price, making with in this year a total gift, to the fire fighters of Great Britain and the thousands of victims, of five of these units, costing $13,250.00.

The money was raised cheerfully and painstakingly. Some small groups in rural schools swept the school house for certain periods for small amounts; others arranged for entertainments to which their parents and friends came and provided a result in money sometimes as high as $70.00 and $80.00.

Since the first opening months of the war the children of Saskatchewan, and all Canada, desired to take a part in aiding not only the armed forces of the Dominion, as their parents have done, but also in procuring alleviation for the sufferings of civilians, especially women and children who are the actual victims in large numbers of the enemy's savage bombing attacks on defenceless homes and communities.

The National Office of the Red Cross in Toronto had made a recent request for Canadian people to provide 36 of these mobile kitchens. The January donation by Saskatchewan's children opened the performance and paid for the first. Up to recent date 19 of these units had been provided and paid for by clubs and other groups of persons. Altogether, with these five, the Junior Red Cross Branches of the Dominion have made a contribution of nine kitchens.

The mobile kitchens, which have facilities for cooking full-course hot meals cafeteria style, are built in England and each of the five will carry a name plate stating that they were donated by the Saskatchewan Junior Red Cross.

Antidotes For Blitzkrieg

British Imperial Forces In Africa Learning Many New Tricks Antidotes for the German blitzkrieg are being developed every day in Tobruk on the blistering desert.

Australians have learned, from weeks of constant contact, that the best approach to a German tank is from behind on the blind side, and that the best way to knock it out is to climb on top, pry open the turret lid, drop a hand grenade inside and sit on the lid five seconds to prevent the occupants escaping.

They have learned that despite their armor plating, German dive bombers and fighters are vulnerable to rifle fire, for riflemen have shot one down while it was diving at them. Flame throwers hauled to the battle line by tanks, the British have learned, are easy prey to anti-tank missiles once the Germans' tactics are learned. They are learning the German snipers' tricks, and the respect the Germans have for a British artillery barrage. From trial and error methods, they are learning the wrong ways to fight as right ones, a case in point being that of a young subaltern who walked up to a stalled German tank, rapped on the door, and handed a fuse-set grenade to the German who answered the knock. This technique failed because the Germans took one look at the grenade and sprang to safety out another door of the tank.

Air Force Radio Mechanics

Western Canada Took The Lead In Enlistments

Figures given by Canada's air minister, Hon. C. G. Power, showed that Western Canada took the lead in enlistments of air force radio mechanics when an urgent call came from Britain a few months ago for radio specialists.

The air ministry combed the whole country and soon obtained all available men with training. Then the call was issued on April 8 for 2,500 young men to train for the special radio work. Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Calgary led all Canada in filling the initial quotas, and reports from all R.C.A.F. recruiting depots showed that by April 18 there had been 1,418 enlistments and 1,134 pending, a total of 2,552. In 10 days then the call was filled.

Actual figures obtained from the air minister showed that both Winnipeg and Vancouver achieved increases of 50 per cent. over the original quotas allotted to them. Winnipeg started with a quota of 200 on April 8, and two days later the recruiting report was 89 enlisted and nine pending. But by April 18 the figures showed a big spurt, and there were 173 enlistments and 238 applications waiting to be taken. Vancouver started with a quota of 150 and in two days had enlisted 37 with 11 waiting. By April 18, the Vancouver standing was 102 enlisted and 15 waiting; rising by April 28 to 148 enlisted with 54 waiting. The quota was raised to 200 and it was filled by May 15.

In both Winnipeg and Vancouver heavy enlistments came from university undergraduates it was reported. The boys have already gone to temporary training pools. The western points being the air school at Penhold, Alta. They move shortly to special courses at universities and after 13 weeks training they will go overseas for additional operations training and actual service. They start out as aircraftmen at class 2 at $13.00 a day, receive promotion at the end of the course to leading aircraftmen at $15.00, and about five per cent. may qualify for commissions.

University training will pay the university $200 tuition for each radio volunteer and the classes to start shortly include 250 at the university of Manitoba, 80 at Saskatoon, 120 at Edmonton and 150 at U.B.C., Vancouver.

TENSION GROWS AGAINST STAND TAKEN BY VICHY

London.—French relations with the democratic world are turning rapidly from bad to worse. Official threats, unofficial charges and propaganda blasts all add to the tension between Vichy and London and Washington. Britain has warned Vichy flatly that she feels free to attack any part of the French empire where the Germans appear. British sources speak this warning with charges that Vichy already has geared French economy to produce weapons for Hitler's army.

French relations with America are aggravated by a Paris newspaper report that Martineau is arming against possible United States attack. This paper says French authorities are determined to blow up the citadel and French gold reserves, rather than yield to attack. U.S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull discloses speculation of any Peugeot works on Martineau. He says these reports arise from German, or pro-German propaganda sources.

The British warning to Vichy was stated in blunt terms by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. He told parliament that no explanation by Vichy can conceal the fact that France is following a course which may place her resources and territory at Hitler's disposal. He said that if France continues active collaboration with the Germans, he said, Britain no longer will distinguish between unoccupied and occupied zones. Rather, said Eden, Britain will hold herself free to attack the enemy "wherever he may be found."

At the same time, a well-informed British source asserts that big French industrial plants already are working for Hitler. He names the Renault, Citroën and Peugeot works and says they're turning out air plane parts, motor torpedo boats, tank parts and ammunition for the German armies.

In addition, the British spokesman charges 80 per cent of rubber and other colonial products recently landed at Marseilles have gone to Germany.

London diplomats hear that Hitler, in an effort to win Vichy over to collaboration, is trying to sell Mussolini on a modification of his territorial aspirations. It is said Hitler has offered II Duce a major share of Jugoslavia, if he'll shove his demands against France.

More Australian Air Squadrons May Be Sent Soon

Sydney, Australia.—Air Minister John McEwen announced that more to the Middle East shortly to assist Australian air squadrons to be sent the Royal Air Force in Syria and Iraq.

He said the real danger in the Middle East is the German air advance toward Iraq and that if the R.A.F. is short of personnel anywhere this will soon be remedied by the Commonwealth air training plan.

Canadian Freighters Sunk

Montreal.—The vice-president of the Peterson Bunting Co., E. B. Sutherland, of Port William, Ontario, says he has received unofficial information that the company's freighter, Portadoc, has been sunk by enemy action off the coast of Africa. The Portadoc is one of the Great Lakes freighters commissioned for ocean traffic after the outbreak of war.

Largest Ocean Convoy

New York.—The largest ocean convoy in history, more than 50 ships loaded with $100,000,000 worth of war supplies and food, has crossed to Great Britain safely from Canada, Collier's Weekly reported. The report came from Quentin Reynolds, staff correspondent of the magazine, who made the crossing aboard one of the vessels.

Veteran Publisher

J. H. Woods, Of The Calgary Herald, Dies At Age Of 78 Years

Calgary.—A veteran western Canadian newspaperman, J. H. Woods, president of South Western Publishers, Ltd., publishers of the Calgary Herald, died here at his home.

Mr. Woods, who was 78 years of age, had been ill for several months. The death of Mr. Woods brought to an end the career of one of the best known newspapermen in Canada.

For years a powerful factor in the economic and political life of Canada, Mr. Woods had striven, unceasingly to improve trade relations between Canada and the United States. Always he urged expansion of Canada's trade "to make Canada a great nation."

Mr. Woods was president of the Canadian chamber of commerce for two years, from 1925 until 1931. He was also chairman of the Canadian trade and goodwill mission to South America in 1931.

Mr. Woods was one of the men responsible for the founding of the old Western Associated Press in 1907, and later took a foremost part in the formation of The Canadian Press in 1917 and 1918, and again in 1925 until 1928.

Mr. Woods was chairman of the Canadian delegation to the Empire Press Union in Melbourne, Australia, in 1925, and to the similar conference in England in 1930. He was chairman of the Canadian section of the Empire Press Union from December, 1928, until his resignation this year.

Among his many other interests Mr. Woods devoted a great deal of his energy to the Boy Scout movement, and from 1932 until this year served as provincial commissioner for Alberta.

In recognition of his services to this organization he was decorated with the Silver Fox award by the late Baron Forster in 1936.

This year he was elected president of the Alberta Boy Scouts' Association on resigning the provincial commissioner.

In the King's birthday honors list of 1935 Mr. Woods was gazetted a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, and for his work for the Red Cross movement he received the King's Jubilee medal.

He was a member of the national council of the Canadian Red Cross for many years and received the honorary membership medal of that organization in 1935.

Canada's Mounted Police With Every Branch Of Armed Services

Toronto.—Canada's famed Mounties are now working with every branch of the armed services, Commissioner S. T. Wood of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said in an interview. He was in Toronto on a routine inspection visit.

The strength of the R.C.M.P. now stands at 4,000 men, Commissioner Wood said. This is almost double the peacetime strength.

Crime in Canada generally had shown a decrease since the beginning of the war, and registration cards, "primarily intended to enable us to locate our human resources, have been valuable" in law enforcement.

"There is no evidence of any underground Bundist groups," he said. "Such groups and clubs were broken up at the outbreak of war, and they are not now operative."

Vancouver.—War has affected the messenger service in many ways. Faced with a shortage of youths, messenger companies have been forced to take on girls and middle-aged men to fill up the vacancies.

Ill-Fated Zanzibar

Declares Ship's Cargo Contained No Contraband

Toronto.—Dr. Ernest Pathy, of Toronto, Canadian and United States representative of the Alexandria Navigation Company, the owner of the ill-fated Zanzibar, said that "not one pound of contraband" was in the ship's cargo when it was sunk.

"The cargo of 4,000 tons was for all sorts of civilian needs in Egypt," he said. "There was a large quantity of fertilizer for Egyptian cotton, steel bars and steel plates for building purposes, foodstuffs, and newspaper for Egyptian newspapers. There was nothing at all of a military nature."

Dr. Pathy said the Zanzibar was insured for $400,000.

SPEEDY CARGO SHIPS BEING BUILT IN UNITED STATES

Washington.—A hint that the United States is rushing preparations to employ numbers of relatively small aircraft carriers to safeguard merchant ships came from Navy Secretary Frank Knox, who said guardedly that the navy is "very busy" on the undertaking.

Without explaining whether such craft might be used except under actual war conditions, Knox said that in connection with the controversy over delivery of munitions to Great Britain, it was "silly" to dwell exclusively on methods developed during the first Great War for protecting convoys from surface and undersea attack.

A speedy cargo ship is being built experimentally as a carrier, and a score of new-type "transports" and conventional plane carriers are under construction or planned, but Knox declined to divulge just what steps are being taken to cope with the problem presented by Germany's aerial attack on British-bound shipping.

"It's one of the things we are not talking about," he told his press conference.

Knox reported that the navy's air force had been increased by more than 50 per cent within a year, with a list reinforcement of 1,304 planes. On May 1 there were 3,476 naval aircraft of all types in service.

Knox' disclosure of the navy's interest in plane-carrying craft was in response to a question whether consideration is being given to the use of small carriers to protect convoys.

British Captain And Crew Brave Fire Of German Bombers

New York.—How a British captain and some of his men braved the fire of German bombers and returned to their abandoned ship in a vain attempt to bring her to port was reported in maritime circles here.

Reports said that the 7,852-ton motor tanker San Conrado was recently attacked six times by three German planes before she was abandoned. A destroyer picked up her crew.

"Seeing her still afloat, the master with his second and third mates and part of the crew returned to try to bring her into port."

But she was attacked again and had to be abandoned. She was taken in tow and the next day attacked for the third time. On the following day she caught fire and was given up as a total loss.

$5,000 Raised For British Post Office Relief Fund

Ottawa.—Officials of the Canadian Postmasters' Association announced that more than $5,000 has been contributed so far to the British post office relief fund. The money will be used to aid widows and children of British postal workers killed in air raids or on active service.

The association's appeal is being conducted through Dominion Secretary Charles D. Griffin, of Regina, Sask. Previously postal employees donated $6,000 in war saving certificates to the Canadian government. Officials said postal associations in the United States are joining in the new appeal.

Contribution From Teachers

Regina.—Canadian teachers have contributed $15,540 toward the war effort through a fund started by the Canadian Teachers' Federation last December, according to G. D. Bomer, secretary of the Saskatchewan Teachers' Association.

THE QUEEN GETS FIRST HAND INFORMATION

When the King and Queen want to know what German bombs are doing to their people, they don't rely on official reports. They walk in person among the ruins of English homes and talk to the folk who have been bombed out. Similarly, when they want to know how the army is doing, they visit the camps where training is under way. This picture was taken in the southern command. With shells screaming overhead during an artillery demonstration, her majesty stoops to question a gunnery sergeant about the action of his gun.

Will Increase Difficulties

Air Raiders Over London Are Due For A Surprise

Lisbon.—Ronald Tree, parliamentary secretary for the ministry of information, said on his return from the United States that "we have a surprise for the Germans which will further their already increasing difficulties in flying over England."

"Before long," Mr. Tree said, "most of their bombers which dare to fly over England will not be able to return home." He declined to specify what the "surprise" is.

Mr. Tree, who spent six weeks in the United States, said there would be 4,000,000 tons of American shipping available for British use by 1942 and "swarms of American planes would be in action before next spring." Among the planes, he said, would be a new type with a range of 7,000 miles.

B.C. Steel Mill

Rolling Mill To Be Established At The Coast

Vancouver.—Establishment of a steel rolling mill here as announced by the Minister of Mines and Technical Surveys, Mr. J. A. Macdonald, is expected to use up surplus scrap metal accumulated in British Columbia since an embargo was imposed on the export of scrap.

It is estimated that accumulation of this scrap amounts to 70,000 tons annually. With establishment of a rolling mill it would be turned out as plate steel for use in the huge 100-vessel shipbuilding program being launched here.

AIR MASTERY IS NECESSARY FOR WINNING THE WAR

Toronto.—Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, British high commissioner to Canada, said in an address here to a combined meeting of the Canadian Commonwealth air training plan, "would make decisive our air mastery over Germany before many months are out."

"The plan has grown far beyond the bounds of the original plan," he said. "Whoever gains mastery of the air will have a priceless advantage over his opponent, and our training plan is many months ahead of its schedule."

The high commissioner, nearing completion of his two-day visit to Toronto, told his audience of about 700 persons that the people of Britain would never give in and spoke of other standards made by the British people against infringements on their rights.

"We have had bad kings in our time," he said. "... Back in the 17th century one of them tried to impose on us what he called the divine right of kings. We didn't stand for it. Well, if we refuse in the 17th century to yield to the divine right of a king, now in the 20th century we certainly won't yield to the diabolical right of a house painter."

"We have no objection to him being a house-painter, but only to the fact that... he forsake that honorable trade for the dishonorable calling of a gangster."

He said there was "no doubt as to the outcome of the war." Victory was sure, but "when is that victory to come? You people can answer that question better than anyone else."

"Canada has a magnificent part to play in this war. Every blow of a hammer in factories manufacturing war materials, every rivet pounded into a ship in your shipyards, every step in the construction of an air plane in one of your factories, shortens the war."

"The workers of Canada can do as much to win this war as any other group in any other belligerent nation in the world. The workers are of inestimable importance... and no society ever succeeds without placing the highest possible standards on the rights of the working man."

He told of a visit to a factory manufacturing war materials "somewhere in Canada," and said the workers in that factory had been "working seven days a week, every week, since the factory started operations last October."

To Conserve Tinplate

Canberra.—The urgent wartime need for conserving tinplate may force the manufacture of tinplate holders from substitutes, gasoline may be stored in black sheet-iron containers and preserved fruits may be packed in waxed paper-board cartons, government officials said.

REDUCTION OF WHEAT SURPLUS IS IN PROSPECT

Ottawa.—A roster that has appeared in the Canadian wheat picture, darkened by the weight of a surplus which according to present calculations will be about 550,000,000 bushels on July 31, 1941.

Bureau of statistics records showed that wheat exports for 1940-41 now were higher than those for the same period in 1939-40 after they had lagged far behind in the earlier part of the season.

The exports for the present year zoomed ahead in the week ended May 16 with the shipment of 8,821,954 bushels. This was the largest export of wheat for seven days since the week ended Dec. 3, 1939, official records showed. It compared with weekly shipments which often dropped below 1,000,000 from August to December, 1940.

Total exports for this year at May 16 stood at 127,068,739 bushels compared with 125,408,470 at the same date last year.

The grain in exports in recent months—the improved shipments in comparison with the slow start in January—means that a cheerful revision of estimates will be resumed.

In December, 1940, it was estimated, in light of export figures then available, that total exports would not fall below 120,000,000 bushels a month ago, estimates were that 180,000,000 bushels would go overseas, and it was on this basis that the 1941-42 federal wheat policy was designed. On the present rate of shipments 190,000,000 bushels of exports seems possible.

The wheat policy provide a limitation on deliveries of 230,000,000 bushels for the coming crop year, estimating that exports will be 180,000,000 bushels and domestic requirements 50,000,000. In view of the surplus now existing it is improbable that any upward revision in deliveries permitted will be made but the improved momentum in exports means that the carrying of the surplus, for which storage accommodation has to be provided, will be reduced.

Commitments of the Dominion government in respect to that part of the 1941-42 wheat surplus owned by the Canadian wheat board will range from $350,000,000 to $400,000,000, officials said. In 1941-42, the government will have to pay carrying charges on the board's share of Canadian carryover of about $50,000,000.

"These figures of rising exports in recent months do not mean we are out of the woods or that any increase in production beyond what has been planned for 1941-42 is warranted," an official said. "But it does mean that the export situation looks brighter than we had expected some months ago, and if the increased momentum is maintained it will mean a good deal in dollars and cents savings to Canada when the crop year ends on July 31, 1941."

Already Canada has the assurance of substantial wheat sales in 1941-42, for Trade Minister MacKinnon announced in the House of Commons that the British ministry of food had agreed to buy 120,000,000 bushels in wheat future, the largest single wheat transaction in the history of the world grain trade.

Raised Money For Spitfires

Famous Elsa Maxwell Held Big Party In Vancouver

Vancouver.—Elsa Maxwell of New York, internationally famous hostess, showed Vancouver and the rest of Canada how to raise $10,000 to help buy Spitfire fighter planes for Britain, by throwing a party that still had this coast's metropolis talking. An estimated 4,000 paid their way into the Hotel Vancouver to help Miss Maxwell put her party over and learn at first hand how she won her world fame. The money will be forwarded direct to Lord Beaverbrook, minister of state at London.

Questionnaires May Be Published In The Newspapers

Ottawa.—Census questionnaires may be published in the newspapers so that people may have the answers ready when the census taker calls. Trade Minister MacKinnon told the House of Commons.

T. L. Church (Con. Toronto-Broadview) asked that the questionnaires be sent by mail in advance so that they might be completed and ready when the enumerators call. Mr. MacKinnon said this proposal had not met with approval of the census branch officials.
